DID YOU KNOW...

If you are in a vehicle accident and forgo a trip via ambulance to an emergency room, the police will likely NOT write an official police report. This official documentation of your accident and injuries can play a huge role in getting you fair and reasonable compensation for your injuries, and if you don't have it, your settlement could be significantly reduced. For this reason, even if you have what you think may be minor injuries, get to the hospital via ambulance. If your injuries are more significant than you initially believe, you may not only be making a life saving decision, but also strengthening your viable case.

THE ONE QUESTION YOU MUST ASK YOUR INSURANCE COMPANY

If you're driving in both Maryland and/or Washington, DC, auto insurance is a must. However, don't assume you're completely covered if you're involved in an accident. And even if you are "completely covered" this does NOT mean that your "complete" coverage is adequate to protect you against financial losses if injured and impaired as a result of a collision. Car insurance companies are notorious for offering the lowest settlement possible. There is a team of lawyers whose sole job is to find ways to lowball offers and if you don't have adequate coverage, you're already on the losing end. To be on the safe side, call your insurance company today and simply ask, "How much more would it cost me to get the next level of coverage?" You'll be surprised to know: it's probably just a few dollars more a month to get several thousand dollars more in coverage.

Give your insurance company a call today and ask. You'll be glad you did.
